VOLUME XI

COLUMBIA, ADAIR COUNTY, KENTUCKY, WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 9, 1908.

NUMBER 44

Public Speaking.

Judge W. R. Cress, of Wayne county Democratic Elector for 11th Congressional District, will speak in the interest of the Democratic National ticket at the following times and places: Jamestown, Monday Sept. 14th. Liberty, Tuesday Sept. 15th. Columbia, Wednesday Sept. 16th. Edmonston, Thursday Sept. 17th. Tompkinsville, Friday Sept. 18th. Burkleville, Saturday Sept. 19th. Speaking to begin at 1 P. M. If the Chairman of Campaign Com. desires, and will so advertise, will speak at night between these points.

Ingram Bros., requests us to state that they have rented the Isenberg corner in Columbia, from Mr. J. O. Russell, and by the 15th of October they will open a large hardware store. Mr. Walter Ingram will remove his family to this place in about two weeks.

Under the school law, given out by the State Superintendent, teachers must secure their certificates in the county in which they teach. For instance, a teacher securing a certificate in Adair county can not use it if he teaches in any other county. The local board must issue the certificate.

The meeting at the Methodist church continues and is not likely to close before next Sunday, as services are given out for every day and evening during this week. Evangelist Brown is preaching strong sermons, and there have been several additions to the church.

Mr. Hugh Noe and family, recently located in Columbia, have taken rooms at the home of Mrs. M. E. Marcum. Mr. Noe's former home was Springfield. He is an excellent gentleman and has an interesting family, a wife and several children. Mr. Noe represents the Harvester Machine Co.

Mr. Creed Hood is one of the severe losers in Sunday night's storm. His tobacco crop was torn to pieces by the hail. His estimate of the damage to the tobacco alone is $250. He also reports that others in his locality sustained similar losses.

Columbia Chapter, No 7, Royal Arch Mason, will meet in regular convention next Friday evening. It will be the most important meeting of the year—the election of officers. All Companions are urged to be present.

The case of Basil Aukhert, who killed Tom French at Burnsville, two months ago, will come up in the Cumberland circuit court next week, Judge, H. C. Baker having called a special term to try the case.

A little four year old son, of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Hutcheson, of Cane Valley, died last Saturday night. He was a bright little boy, and his death brought great sorrow to parents and other relatives.

Lovers of base ball in Russell, Casey, Taylor, Green, Metcalf, Cumberland, Clinton are invited to be here Tuesday September 29th and witness a great game—Columbia against Louisville.

The Columbia Brass Band left early Monday morning for Monticello. As we go to press it is making much for the people who are attending the Wayne county Fair.

Barger, a citizen of Columbia, now playing with the Rochester, New York, of the Eastern League, will be here to pitch for the home club in the game against Louisville.

Eld. F. J. Barger is getting in his lumber preparatory to erecting a handsome residence on the lot recently purchased of Mr. J. D. Lowe, on "Bomar Heights."

Last Friday morning while Mr. G. W. Staples was waiting upon a customer, a coco bottle exploded, cutting a deep gash in his right hand.

Rev. Tyler Wright is conducting a series of meetings at Clear Springs. Up to last Sunday there had been several conversions.

We have a long account of the Duke Campbell wedding which we will publish next week. The bride formerly resided in Adair county.

It is said that the tickets showed that 7,000 attended the Tompkinsville Fair Thursday of last week.

J. A. Caldwell sold Goff Bros., a nice driving-horse Monday for $120.

The Adair circuit court will convene Monday week.

Come in and see the Louisville Colonels Tuesday the 29th.

The American Association Base Ball Team and known as "The Colonels," located at Louisville, now playing with the Indianapolis team for the championship of said Association, have arranged with the Columbia team to play a game in this place at the Lindsey-Wilson Park, Tuesday afternoon September 29th. This will be the first professional club to visit Columbia and it is believed that a thousand or fifteen hundred people will witness the game. Two hundred dollars has been put up by citizens of Columbia to secure this team, and there is not a doubt but the greatest game ever pulled off in this section of the State will be played.

The Columbia base ball team easily won a victory at Greensburg last Saturday, the score standing 12 to 2. The club from here was handsomely entertained by the Greensburg boys, every courtesy being shown them. Notwithstanding they traveled forty miles there and back, they say they enjoyed the trip, having a most delightful time.

Mr. Jesse Sapp was here last Monday, and stated that our articles in the News in regard to the doings of the women Comenators, who preached in the eastern portion of this county, were partly incorrect. He says the preachers did not require the women in the congregation to remove the ribbon and fasten from the hats and that the sect do not practice the holy dances. They hold to the doctrine of Christian simplicity in wearing apparel. We give this statement in justice to all parties. With the exceptions named, the articles were correct.

Mr. J. F. Reynolds brought to this office two leaves from a plant found in this county, measured 19 1/2 inches long and 2 1/2 wide. The plant was first noticed in the summer of 1907 and last winter it died to the surface. In the Spring it came again with renewed vigor and has attained a height of 10 to 12 feet and a stem 2 to 3 inches in diameter at the ground. The stem is well loaded with scale leaves above mentioned. Evidently it is a member of the palm family, but by what means it reached its present location is as much a mystery as its growth is peculiar.

Our home team knows what it is to go up against, but it is not scared. Come to Columbia Tuesday, Sept. 29th, and see the boys hat the Colonels.

Mr. Jeff Bradshaw swapped farms with Mr. A. Loy last Monday and sold the Loy farm to Leno Robison. Fish McClellan and John Will Burbridge for $1000. Mr. Bradshaw reserves the white oak timber for which $2500 has been offered. There is about 300 acres in the boundary and will be divided by the purchasers. The trade between Mr. Bradshaw and Mr. Loy was of the ordinary as was an even deal including the farms, gardens, corn and cane crops and also their dogs.

Columbia Base Ball Team has not been defeated this year. On the 29th it goes up against the Louisville Colonels. Come out, every body, and witness a sure enough game.

Mr. Sol W. Royle, one of the poor farmers of Adair county, living on the road from Columbia to Russell Springs, has just completed a handsome and commodious residence. It contains eight rooms, all the necessary porches and is one of the most conveniently constructed dwellings in this county. Mr. Royle invites his neighbors, those with children, to call and stay a week at a time and eat watermelons.

Circuit court commenced at Albany Monday. The most important case expected to be tried at this term is that of the State against Henry and Porter Polson, charged with murdering Mrs. Julia Brown. The accused were given a trial last year, the jury fixing the death penalty. The judgment was reversed by the Court of Appeals and the case remanded for trial. It is believed that if both sides answer ready, a jury will have to be secured outside of Clinton county.

An all day singing will be held at Neatsburg church on Sunday, the 20th, conducted by Wofford Bros., Stapp Bros., and R. O. Calhoun. Every body invited, and those in reasonable distance are expected to bring well filled baskets.

STRAYED—From my farm, 2 miles south of Columbia, a red cow with a stony horn, 6 years old. Will pay any one for their trouble if they will return the same to me or notify me.

Considerable hail fell in portions of Adair county last Sunday night. We learn that several tobacco crops were damaged, but not seriously.

Born, to the wife of R. L. Caldwell on the 4th inst., a son.

Bitten by a Snake.

Mr. Tyler Parrott, of Campbellville, was badly bitten by a copperhead snake Sunday of last week. He and a young lady were out huggy riding and they noticed a snake crossing the road. Tyler alighted to kill the reptile, and he concluded he would do it the old time way, catch it by the tail and jerk the head off. The snake's tail was protruding from under fence rails, and Tyler slipped up and took hold, and as he did so the fangs of the reptile were fastened on his hand, the snake having drew his head to where his tail was. Parrott threw the snake from him and killed it, but before he reached town, on his return, he had a badly swollen hand and arm and was suffering great pain.

Columbia is expected to be filled with people on Tuesday, September 29th. They will come to witness a great game of base ball, Columbia against the Louisville Colonels.

Attempted to Cut Her Throat.

Mr. Lee Keltner (see Miss Lege) attempted to end her existence last Friday afternoon by cutting her throat with a razor. Dr. L. C. Nell was called and sewed up the wound. Our informant states that the victim of her own hand would give no reason for the rash act. She is the same woman who was in court a few weeks ago, charging several boys with the crime of outraging her. Since she appeared in court she married a young man named Keltner.

The Lindsey-Wilson opening last Wednesday, was very satisfactory to the management. New pupils entered each day after the opening, and on last Monday quite a number matriculated. At this time every thing indicates that the attendance this year will be fully up to last year. All the teachers are in their respective departments, and will use their utmost endeavors to make this the best year of the institution. In the meantime, we advise pupils who have not already matriculated to do so as quickly as possible. The sooner they enter and are classified, the better it will be for them.

We publish elsewhere in this issue an address read before the Teachers' Association at Greenville, recently, by Mr. Matthew Taylor, a former teacher, and many years ago Superintendent of the county. He does not like the new school law, and intimates that its adoption is a step toward mixed schools. The law is objectionable, that is addition is not, but there is nothing in it to lead a person to believe that we will have mixed schools. It is a fact that the present law does not provide for colored children though the colored people are taxed for school purposes. For that reason we believe the law will be declared unconstitutional.

The dwelling house and nearly all its contents, the home of Mr. Austin Loy, in the Fairplay country, were destroyed by fire last Thursday forenoon at 11 o'clock. Besides the household goods, forty bushels of wheat, nine bushels of corn, and about sixty dollars in money were destroyed. The fire originated from the stove in the cook room and when first discovered the roof of the dwelling was ablaze. The loss is estimated at several hundred dollars, no insurance.

The case against Aaron Smith, of color, for using his knife on Will Yarbary, white, was before Judge Hancock last Friday. The Commonwealth was not ready and the case was continued until the 4th day of October. In the meantime the grand jury will be in session, and if Smith should be indicted, the case will go to the circuit court.

A gasoline engine, the property of Mr. J. F. Patterson, was torn to pieces last Thursday morning and effectually ruined. There was no explosion, some parts of the machine became loose from a defect in building it, as Mr. Patterson believes. The engine was comparatively new.

Highland Peacock, a valuable stable horse, the property of Coffey Bros. & Young, has been very sick for several days, but at this writing he is considerably better. He has had the undivided attention of his owners during his illness.

A heavy electric storm followed by a terrific rain, visited this place last Sunday night. It lasted from 7 until 9 o'clock. No damage so far as we have learned to date.

Agents—One Kentucky man earned $930.00 in one month. He was a "Hustler." Are you? If you are, get us. Write today. M. H. Schaden, 419 Traction Terminal Bldg., Indianapolis, Ind.

Death of Mrs. Sallie Akers.

Last Thursday, near Science Hill, after an illness of nearly five weeks, Mrs. Sallie Akers, a native of this county, a daughter, of Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Triplett, of this place, succumbed to the inevitable and passed over the river of death.

The deceased was about forty years old and had been a consistent member of the Methodist church since her early girlhood.

Besides her parents, she leaves a husband, Mr. Willis Akers, and five or six children, several brothers and sisters.

The deceased parents left immediately for Somerset upon hearing the sad intelligence.

The News extends its condolence to the surviving members of the family.

Death of Mrs. Spillman.

Last Monday morning, about 3 o'clock, Mrs. G. W. Spillman died at her home near Gradyville. She was about thirty years old and was born and reared near Greensburg, her maiden name being Tucker.

Her husband removed with his family from Green county, settling near Gradyville, eight years ago.

The deceased had been in a low state of health for some time, being a victim of consumption.

Her death has brought much sorrow to the surviving husband and children.

In the death of "Old Aunt Lou" King, the death of Nelson King, the colored people of this section lost one of their most respected and worthy women. She died last Wednesday from old age and its attendant troubles. She was seventy-five years of age, probably older, and was respected by all the white people who knew her.

Monday was county court, but in point of business there was but little done. The merchants did not seem to be as busy as usual on a public day, and there was scarcely any aged stock changed hands though a great many mules, mostly colts, were on the market. Probable as many as a dozen male colts sold, ranging in price from $50 to $55.

An order has been made by the City Council for concrete pavement to be extended as follows: To the Freshy-terian church on Burkleville street; to the branch on Water street; to the cemetery on Campbellville street and to N. Page's residence, including same on Greensburg street. The property holders are given until next July to complete the work.

Mr. James Kinnaird, of Red Lick, lost a fine saddle horse, having been struck by lightning during the storm Sunday night.

Premium Wheat For Sale.

Your next crop depends largely on the kind of seed you use. Now is the time to buy your seed wheat. Flowers Bros have a fine lot for sale, premium wheat in a state toward mixed, including same on Greensburg street. The property holders are given until next July to complete the work.

Mr. Geo. H. Nell, Gradyville, was here Monday. He reported that the hands in his hango factory were turning out work rapidly.

Miss Lizzie Carter, of New Mexico, is visiting relatives in Columbia and vicinity. Her mother was Miss Hettie Curt.

Mr. Geo. H. Nell, Gradyville, was here Monday. He reported that the hands in his hango factory were turning out work rapidly.

Miss Ione Rounds visited friends at Montpelier last week. She was accompanied by Miss Lillie Hurt, who spent a day or two here.

Mr. M. Cravens, who was considerably hurt in a buggy wreck, a week ago, has so far recovered as to be able to visit his place of business.

Mr. Sam Lewis and wife and daughter, Miss Edna, left on a visit to Glasgow last Thursday. Mrs. Lewis and Miss Edna will remain two or three weeks.

Miss Julia Eubank will leave to purchase Fall millinery Wednesday or Thursday. She will be accompanied to Louisville by Miss Ruhie Davis, who has been visiting here for the past three weeks.

Miss Verna Doherty, who has been in Louisville and Cincinnati the past ten days, having sold stock millinery goods for Polson & Co., Hartford, Ala., left for the latter place the 5th to take charge of the department at that time.

Mr. J. T. Richards, of Wamego,

When a little money is necessary for a first-class game of ball the citizens of Columbia do not hesitate. They put up $200.00 for the great game to be played here Tuesday the 29th.

Miss Sallie Ray Marcum and Miss Nina Marcum have accepted positions to teach this school year. The former goes to Harrisonburg, Va. the latter to a point near Knoxville, Tenn. These young ladies are highly qualified for the duties encountered in the school room, both being graduates of the local colleges here. They are cultured, every body in Columbia, their home town, being their friends. They left Monday morning for their respective places of duty, carrying the best wishes of this entire community. It is hoped that they may be blessed with health, returning safely home at the expiration of their respective terms.

Sale of Land.

On the 5th day of October, 1908, the same being county court day at the court house door in Columbia, Ky., between the hours of 1 o'clock p. m. and 3 o'clock p. m. of said day, we will sell at public outcry, and to the highest and best bidder, upon a credit of six months, about 83 acres of land, situated upon the north side of the farm owned by Geo. O. Powell, deceased, upon Russell creek, in Adair county, Ky., or as sufficiency of land to satisfy indebtedness against said decedent of $575.44, with interest thereon at 6 per cent per annum from August 31, 1901, and the further sum of $100, with interest thereon at 6 per cent per annum from September 4, 1905. The purchaser will be required to execute a bond for the purchase price of said land with good security, including a lien retained upon said land. The said land to bear interest at 6 per cent per annum from date until paid. The heirs and widow of said Geo. O. Powell will execute a deed for said land to the purchaser with clause of general warranty, when said bond is paid. The said 83 acres of land has been surveyed and any person desiring will be shown said survey.

This land is of a good quality, and about one half of it is covered with fine timber, such as popular, oak, hickory, etc. There is plenty of never failing water upon the land. Any one desiring to see this body of land will be shown over it by Milton Powell, Jr., or Theodore Powell, who will be found on the place.

Milton Powell, Jr.

A Good Piece of Road.

Mr. Jo N. Conover, the road supervisor, who has just completed the road between the corporate limits of Columbia and the bridge over Russell creek on the Somerset road. A splendid grade was made and a culvert of stone ten feet wide and six inches deep was placed thereon. A large part of it is well packed already by the heavy traffic and within a short while it will be as smooth as the best street in town. There is not a doubt as to the worth of this road and will prove the importance of spending the road tax in a manner that is lasting. This road stands a monument to the supervisor of public roads, Judge E. L. Judge Llanthoe and county attorney Paul Smythe. It is a blessing to the people who use it and should inspire greater efforts along the same line another year. The beginning is good so let us all keep the work going.

A Bird Charming.

While sitting on the porch at the warehouse at Ashertown last Saturday my attention was drawn to a small boy, creeping or crawling, catlike on the ground, toward a English Sparrow a little distance away. When in about eight feet of the bird he stopped, lay flat down with open mouth and hands, with eyes fastened on the bird. The bird at once began hopping quietly to the boy, and right up into his hand. The boy then rose up with the fluttering little Sparrow, seeming as much scared as if he had not been hypnotized. I vouch for this.

B. F. Chewning.

Mr. S. H. Mitchell sold Tom Coffey, who lives near Bridgeport, a building lot last Monday for $130. The lot is this side of Mr. Mitchell's residence and fronts the Glasgow road. Mr. Coffey will build an office.

In the contest for the penant The Louisville Colonels are four points ahead of Indianapolis, and the indications are that they will win out. They won two double headers at Indianapolis Monday.

City of Statues.

That is What Washington Will One Day Be If Present Patriotic and Art Tendencies Continue. ♦ ♦ ♦

WASHINGTON will become the handsomest city in the world if all the plans for its artistic embellishment are carried out. These plans embrace a great variety of improvements and involve the expenditure of large sums of money. In the meantime projects increase for the erection of memorials in honor of heroes and statesmen. One of the subjects that will be brought before congress early in the next session will be a proposition to provide a suitable statue of George Washington for the east front of the capitol, in view of the removal from the plaza to the Smithsonian Institution of the much ridiculed Greenough statue, representing the Father of His Country in the scant and unnatural attire of a Roman senator. Representative McCall of Massachusetts, chairman of the house committee on the library, introduced in the last congress a bill providing for a replica of the J. Q. A. Ward statue of Washington which stands in front of the subterranean building in Wall street, New York, and is one of the best sculptural portraits of the first president in existence. He proposes to place this replica on the staircase on the east front of the capitol, so that the sculptural portraits of the first president in existence. He proposes to provide a new statue instead of a replica for this important place. Those who advance this idea hold that President Washington should be represented in such a statue as delivering his inaugural address. With the removal of the Greenough statue there will be no effort of Washington in the immediate vicinity of the capitol except a plaster replica of Rodon's work, which stands in statutory hall, the original being at Richmond. On Pennsylvania avenue there is an equestrian statue of Washington as general in command of the Continental army. It is the work of Clark Mills.

EQUESTRIAN STATUE OF WASHINGTON ON PENNSYLVANIA AVENUE, WASHINGTON.

The nation's capitol would be rich in monuments if half the bills introduced for their erection were to be passed. Mr. Sulzer of New York proposed in the last congress an expenditure of $50,000 for a bronze statue of Samuel J. Tilden, Democratic candidate for the presidency in 1876. Representative Chaney of Indiana thinks that there should be a statue of Pocahontas and has offered a bill to provide it. There is a national association for the purpose of erecting a suitable monument to Alexander Hamilton. The officers and members of this association are trying to raise the necessary money by private subscription, evidently having despaired of ever inducing congress to act in the matter. Scores of the most prominent men in America belong to this association. President Roosevelt has given the subject his endorsement, having written that it is a shame that no monument has ever been erected to the memory of Hamilton. There is no statue or monument of General Grant in Washington, but it is proposed to have a statue as soon as the dispute can be settled as to whether some historic trees shall be felled in the botanic gardens of the government to make room for it. There are two so-called monuments of President Lincoln in Washington. One is in front of the building used by the courts of the District of Columbia. It was erected shortly after the civil war by negroes. It is a poor excuse for a monument, but it was the best the recently emancipated slaves could do. The other is in Lincoln park, on Capitol hill.

A statue of the great Polish patriot, Kosciuszko, is to be located in Lafayette park. The model of the monument as a whole represents Kosciuszko as a hero of both hemispheres, as he is usually called by the Poles. At the front of the pedestal is a hemisphere showing the map of America, with the American eagle guarding its liberty. In the rear the other hemisphere, bearing the outline of Europe and Asia, is being strangled by a snake, representing despotism, which the Polish eagle is trying to kill with his beak and talons. To the right a Polish regular soldier, wounded and falling, is protected by a Polish farmer with his scythe. To the left an American soldier is cutting the throat of the American farmer. Above stands Kosciuszko with a map showing West Point and fortifications in one hand and the other resting on his sword.

White House Families.

There have been times in American history when an advocate of large families could not have cited the household of the White House as an example, for small families have been the rule in the White House, and the census taker in more than one administration would have been obliged to report "No family."

Yet only two bachelors have been elected to the Presidency, and one of these, Grover Cleveland, changed his condition by marrying before completing his first term. James Buchanan in his youth was a party to a romantic love affair, and after the death of the young lady he appears never to have thought of marrying.

It has been said that few Presidents had what President Roosevelt would call large families. William Henry Harrison had the largest; he was the father of six sons and four daughters. He was the oldest man ever elected to the Presidency. Hays and Garfield had the next largest families; in the Hays family were born eight children, and in the Garfield family seven, a large number in each case growing to maturity.

President Garfield had four children, three sons and one daughter, and one of these sons, Fredrick D. Grant, is a Major General in the army. Abraham Lincoln had four sons, Robert Todd Lincoln, who became Secretary of War under Presidents Garfield and Arthur, alone surviving to maturity. President Johnston had two daughters, Martha and Mary, Martha presiding over the White House during the illness of her invalid mother.

President Arthur was a widower, and his sister presided over the White House. He had two children living, but his first child, a son, died in infancy. President Van Buren also was a widower. He had five sons, two of whom were Abraham, whose wife presided over the White House, and John, who was known as "Prince John." President Taylor had a son and two daughters, of whom one married Jefferson Davis.

President Pierce had three sons, two of whom died in infancy, and the child, a boy of thirteen, was killed in the presence of his parents in a railroad accident two months before his father's inauguration as President. President John Adams had a daughter and three sons, President Monroe had two daughters, and John Quincy Adams had several children, two of whom died in infancy. President McKinley's two daughters died while very young.—Boston Globe.

Wanted to See the World.

Last Thursday afternoon sheriff M. E. Carter received a telegram from Lexington to arrest four girls aboard a north bound Q. and C. train, and when it rolled up to the depot here that official was on hand, but before he could get them in marching order the train moved on. The quartet were safely landed at Dry Ridge, however, and brought back to Williamstown on the next train and taken to the Thompson House where the sheriff and his deputy guarded them. Several of the girls appeared very brave while one wept bitterly for a time and said she feared to meet her father.

They gave their names as follows: Aileen Smith, Hattie Traugott, Janie Parker, Lexington; Margaret Duncan, Brannon, Ky. Miss Smith, who seemed to be the leader of the party, said they concluded to see some of the world, and so decided to run away from home.

A telephone message from Lexington about 7 p. m. instructed the officers to hold the runaways until the father of the Smith girl arrived in an automobile. Meantime the girls got gay and made merry on the streets for an hour or two, keeping the officers busy, watching them.

The auto did not reach here until after 2 a. m., and then the occupants lost their bearings. For they passed the hotel at a rapid rate. But in a few moments they came back to find that only two of the girls were at the hotel, Miss Smith, and another one having disappeared. The distracted father then directed the chauffeur to return to Lexington with the two girls, while he, a Lexington detective and the officials here instituted a search for his daughter and her companion.

They were discovered about daylight in a hollow near the railroad track and brought back to the hotel. The party left on the morning train for Lexington.

It was alleged that Miss Smith "swiped" a roll of bills from her father and paid all expenses. The runaways first went to Nicholasville, telephoned for an automobile and were taken to Creendale, where they boarded the train.

One girl said she was going to Cincinnati to get a position in a department store; another said she left home on account of the "big stick" discipline of her parents, while another said she ran away to have a good time. But all were glad of the chance to get back home, and it is not likely they will try the experiment of leaving "mammy's apron string" again.—Williamstown Courier.

Vengeance.

Indianapolis, Aug. 27.—When it was definitely learned here today that Claude Andrews, a cousin of Jesse Coe, who was killed by Sheriff J. E. Bryant, of Monroe county, Ky., and his body brought to this city for identification and reward, was a party to the killing of Coe and had received $600 of the $1,500 reward, the negroes on the West Side became very much excited and on several occasions the police were compelled to employ threats to prevent trouble in the crowds that gathered about the morgue where Coe's body lay. The excitement increased when Coe's sister called and identified the body and asked the privilege of giving it burial.

In the crowds of negroes that gathered on the streets and discussed the killing of Coe and the events leading to it there were many angry expressions against Andrews and not a few covert threats and suggestions that he ought to be killed. The police thought Andrews discreet enough to keep out of the way of trouble, but late in the evening he went to visit a relative at Nora street and Senate avenue, right in the heart of the negro settlements.

His presence in the house became known immediately and negroes began to gather from all directions. Andrews was a prisoner in the house for a few moments and the mob was on the point of forcing the doors when Patrolman Morgan arrived on the scene. So excited was the mob that he could do nothing with its members and he telephoned for help. Two other patrolmen reached the scene in time to prevent an assault on the house and Andrews was taken to the police station for protection. The members of the mob followed at a short distance, breathing vengeance, but other arrivals of officers saved Andrews from the vengeance of his race.

The negroes say he cannot remain in this city and if they find him outside the protection of the police they will kill him. They do not seem so much to resent the killing of Coe as they do the fact that Andrews got money for his part in it.

Andrews accompanied Sheriff J. E. Bryant and his deputy, Granger Conkin, to Indianapolis with the body of Coe. The party arrived shortly after 11 o'clock last night, and more than 1,000 persons were waiting at police headquarters to see the body. The body of the dead negro was positively identified by several persons who had been summoned to the police department. The body of the murderer in a coffin was seen by thousands of people to day. They passed at the rate of ninety a minute for several hours beginning at 8 o'clock this morning. At noon it was estimated that 20,000 persons had passed the coffin.

A Paying Investment.

Mr. John White, of 38 Highland Ave., Houlton, Maine, says: "Have been troubled with a cough every winter and spring. Last winter I tried many advertised remedies, but the cough continued until I bought a 50c. bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery; before that was half gone, the cough was all gone. This winter the same happy result has followed, a few doses once more banished the annual cough. I am now convinced that Dr. King's New Discovery is the best of all cough and lung remedies." Sold under guarantee at Paul's drug store, 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

A. G. Patterson.

The Whitley Republican, of Williamsburg, has the following to say:

"Hon. A. G. Patterson, Democratic Candidate for Congress, in the Eleventh District, was in Williamsburg Saturday. He met the County Committee and other friends, Republicans as well as Democrats. Mr. Patterson's close kinship to a well-known family allied to the minority section of the Republican party, is, by some of his friends, expected to win him votes. But the main reliance of the candidate is, confessedly on his own merits and energy.

He declares that he will visit every county in the District, that he is ready to meet Mr. Edwards on the stump, at any time or place. He indorses the Denver platform and the candidacy of William Jennings Bryan. He favors the improvement of the Cumberland River, and the development of the District generally. While in favor of the utmost economy in Governmental expenses, he urges liberality in pensions to old soldiers, their widows and orphans.

Mr. Patterson pronounces against machine politics in both parties, and invited all opposed to machine methods no matter what their affiliation, to support him.

He will, later on, announce the time and place of his campaign opening, as, also, his speaking date for Williamsburg. Local Democrats proclaim Mr. Patterson an ideal candidate and are enthusiastically 'fer' him. For a man on the wrong side of the political fence, he is, we cheerfully admit, a very good fellow personally."

Lindsay, For Bryan.

At an enthusiastic meeting of Democrats at Frankfort August 29th, former United States Senator William Lindsay, who opposed Bryan in both of his former races came out strongly for him and the Democratic ticket in a powerful address. Senator Lindsay vigorously scored the president for attempting to dictate the appointment of his successor, declaring that it was the height of indecency on the part of the President.

He commended the Democratic party for the prominence given to demands for tariff revision in its platform and urged that the Democracy strongly oppose all trend toward centralization of power in the Federal Government, which he declared to be the fundamental fault of the Republican party.

Allowing Railroads To Obey The Law.

If the government is going to run the railroads of the country, it must run them on business principles or accept the responsibility for general bankruptcy ruin. This has come to be pretty well understood at last in government as well as railroad circles.

An illustration of it is the general recognition of the necessity of bringing the Sherman anti-trust law and the laws for special and direct regulation of railroads into harmony. That is necessary merely to allow the railroads to obey the law. As it stands now, they violate the law against combination if they uniformly obey the law regulation rates. If they obey the Sherman law by keeping out of combination, some of them fall inevitably into violation of some of the various laws regulating rates.

The business of conducting the traffic of the country is so enormous and so complicated that it is simply impossible for railroads to obey the laws regulating separately and independently. They can do so only by combination of competing as well as connecting lines, and the establishment of joint and uniform rates for certain fields of traffic.

This combination to make joint and uniform rates was held by the courts to be violation of the Sherman anti-trust act some ten years ago. That ruling never has been changed, though every possible effort has been made to soften it. Now it is recognized that the thing to do is to change the Sherman law itself.

The subject comes up freshly in the Southern states, where the railroads are suffering most from loss of earnings and financial weakness, and where the state commissions' seemed determined so enforce the letter of both the rate law and the anti-trust law.

Examination of conditions in Texas and in the territory of the Southern Railway have completely convinced the interstate commission that the only salvation of the railroads is the power to make joint rates under supervision. A strong effort will be made to give them this power at the next session of Congress.—Minneapolis Evening Tribune.

Killed in His Tracks.

Glasgow, Ky., Aug. 26.—Jess Coe, the negro who killed Patrolman Charles Russell at Indianapolis September 30, 1906, and for whom a reward of $1,500 was offered, killed Tuesday at 11 o'clock in Martinsburg, on Cumberland river, in Monroe county, by Sheriff J. E. Bryant and a posse of deputies.

Tuesday morning, while going through a strip of woods, the officers came upon Coe in company with a negro named Claud Andrews. They were squirrel hunting, and when first seen Coe was in the act of shooting a squirrel. Coe had a Winchester rifle at his shoulder, pointing at the top of a tree. The snapping of a twig attracted his attention and he turned and faced the Sheriff and his deputies.

Coe was asked to surrender, but instead was bringing his gun on a level with the Sheriff when one of the deputies and the Sheriff fired almost simultaneously and the negro fell, dying instantly.

No case in recent years has attracted such widespread attention as did the killing of the Indianapolis officers by Coe. A negro, George Williams, a relative of Coe, and who was with him at the time, was arrested, tried and hanged for killing Patrolman Betticord at the same time. A large reward was offered for Coe, but he managed to get back to his home on Pea Ridge, where his parents and relatives live. The Coe negroes, some twenty in number, have been a terror to that section for years. They have been mixed up in a dozen killings and have gone free with a few exceptions, no one daring to arrest them. The reward of $1,500 has been a great temptation and many detectives have tried to capture the fugitive.

SHERIFF BIDDEN HIS TIME.

Sheriff Bryant has believed all along that Coe was hiding on Pea Ridge and that his capture was only a question of time. Many believe that Jess Coe had never returned, and those who knew the Coes best asserted that he would never be taken alive.

For Bryan.

J. Sherman Porter, managing editor of the Lexington Herald, and formerly the editor of an Ohio Republican newspaper, will vote and work for Bryan and Kern in the coming campaign. He has offered his services to stump his home congressional district in Ohio and any other counties to which the Democratic State Committee may desire to send him. Mr. Porter's reasons for leaving his party aside from his confidence in the integrity of Mr. Bryan, are unique, in that he would destroy the Republican organization in Ohio in order to discourage the formation of future machines in the State.

He says that no man, however able he may be to fill any office, need aspire to office in the Buckeye State unless he has the necessary "acads" to put up a boodle campaign and unless he stands in with the machine of Taft, which succeeded the old Foraker-Dick gang in control of political matters in the State. He believes that the only thing that will bring about a square deal in Ohio Republican politics is the annihilation of the Republican ticket this year, State as well as National, for if Taft should be elected all the gangsters beaten for the State offices would be taken care of anyhow.

The fair grounds will be sold, at the Court-house door on Monday, Sept. 21.

Married 14 Times.

Is there any woman in all these broad United States of ours who thinks herself capable of managing fourteen men—all of them husbands—let her read the story of how a Nebraska woman tried it, failed and is still hopeful. Mrs. Phoebe Townsend, of Dode, Neb., is the woman. She has been married fourteen times within the span of her fifty years of life. This is believed to be the record from the time when marriages were kept—at least in this county. On the subject of how to manage a husband, Mrs. Townsend says: Although I lost so many husbands, it is no fault of mine. I was a good wife to each of them. I guess it's a matter of luck. I know how to manage a husband. You mustn't love him too much. That is not for your own good. And it is not good for him. It spoils him. You should conceal some of your affections so that you may keep him in hopes of winning more. You mustn't let him know that you're managing him. That will never do. If he has any obstinacy, and most men have a good deal, he will fight. You've got to lead him. Some of my husbands were very obstinate. But I generally managed to get them to do what I wanted them to do. Of course I couldn't make them faithful, and I couldn't give them good dispositions if they didn't have them. You can change a man somewhat, but you would be a fool to think you could make him over. I've had too much experience to believe that. I tell you a woman must have a good deal of hope in her to marry a man at all. I guess I'm of a hopeful disposition. I'm not mean. I don't think I'm selfish. But I know my rights. There are some things I can't stand. I just had the hard luck to get men who didn't appreciate me. Affection isn't all a man wants. Some of them just want a servant. Even a woman who is married to a good man will find that the best of them are selfish. I suppose women are, too, in certain ways. Maybe it's a matter of luck whether married people can get along with each other's selfishness. Anyway, people have got to marry. We are told that it is not good for man to be alone. A woman is just as helpless. I always got lonesome after I parted from one of my husbands. No one ought to blame me. My children have, and so have other people. But I think I'm right in my search for happiness. I thought I had found it when I married at 13. Maybe it is not my fate to find it?

Splendid Blue Grass Farm For Sale.

As Executor of Mrs. L. J. Cloyd I will offer for sale at public outcry on the premises, at about 10 a. m., Sept. 15th, 1908, the magnificent blue grass farm of about 365 acres of which she died possessed. It is situated in Lincoln county, Ky., on a turnpike, about 23 miles from McKinnis and about the same distance from Hustonville. The improvements consist principally of a two-story, frame dwelling, large barn, double crib, buggy house, tenant house, all necessary outbuildings, cistern, stock scales, etc.

All in grass but about 75 acres. It is near good schools, churches and a railroad station on the Queen & Crescent Railway. The land will be surveyed after the sale. Possession for seeding purposes will be given as soon as the terms of sale are complied with and of the whole tract Jan. 1st, 1909. At least one third of the purchase price must be paid in cash and terms as to balance will be arranged to suit purchaser. This is one of the best farms in Lincoln county. For further particulars address J. B. FANTON, Executor, Stanford, Ky.

DEMOCRATIC TICKET

For President,
Wm J. BRYAN, of Nebraska.For Vice-President,
J. W. KERN, of Indiana.For Congress,
A. G. PATTERSON, of Penn. county.

There is every reason for Democrats to feel jubilation over the result next November. The party from Maine to California and from the Lakes to the Gulf, is united, in full accord with the platform and the candidates. No fictional fights in any of the States; strong and regular candidates in every local contest and fired with the hope of victory, a powerful fight will be made and the result can hardly be doubted. Every Democratic state promises increased majorities. Not a one is in danger, while many of the strong Republican states are in doubt and the pivotal ones swinging into the support of Bryan. The best of reports are coming from New York, Indiana, Illinois and other states farther west. With the Democratic Journals all in line and many of the great Independents supporting the party indicates the drift of sentiment and foreshadows victory. On the other side factional wars are on in some of their closest districts and states. Mr. Taft is not the choice of the great bulk of his party—he is a machine made nominee and every body knows it. He is not in close relation with the rank and file of the people. Again, his religious views are not in accord with the great bulk of the people and his platform is out of harmony with demands of organized labor. The country has been wrestling with hard times and thousands of willing workers are begging bread. It's a Democratic year and all we have to do is to keep the faith and stick to our post of duty.

The colored people throughout the entire country are not on good terms with Mr. Taft. In many places they are organizing against him, but before election day most of them will be driven into line by their political bosses and their votes will be cast, largely in this time, as they have been in the past. There will be a small percent of them who will free themselves from political bondage and vote on their own judgment, but the great mass will march to the polls like sheep to the slaughter pen.

The Glasgow Times would be delighted in its very soul if Judge Wallace Jones, of Columbia, should enter and win the race for the republican nomination for circuit judge in his district. In years gone by Judge Jones made a great circuit judge, and he can do it again if given the chance. There is not a chance on his life for any democrat in that district, and Wallace Jones is, by all odds, the best qualified republican.—Glasgow Times.

Mr. Taft says if he is elected his first official act will be to convene Congress in extraordinary session for a revision of the tariff. Now, such a statement from such a man is of itself extraordinary and if the revision under such circumstances should be made in favor of the people and against protected interest it would be most extraordinary.

Twenty-five thousand people witnessed, at Waterville, Me., last Tuesday, an arnront fall 500 feet to his death.

Senator Foraker shook hands with Candidate, Taft. Foraker is a game man, but he wants to be re-elected.

The United States increased in population, by immigration, during the last twelve months 209,000.

From Oklahoma.

Ingersoll, Okla., Aug. 30, '08.
Editor News:—

As I have been requested by several of my Kentucky friends to write them concerning this country, and I haven't time to write all individual letters, so I thought I would write them through The News, hoping you will find time and space to publish it if you think it worthy of publication.

This is a fine country for farming and is adapted to raising corn, wheat, barley, alfalfa and kaffir corn. Kaffir corn looks almost exactly like our Kentucky sorghum cane and has heads and seed like it, only the heads are black and the seed are white and larger. Wheat will grow from 20 to 40 bushel to the acre; oats from 20 to 50 bushel; corn from 25 to 50 bushel. Alfalfa will make from three to five crops a year, owing to how much rain and how the people are fixed to care for it. We have lost one crop of alfalfa this year by having so much to do we could not cut it in time for another crop to come on. Each cutting will make from a ton to a ton and a half to the acre and is worth $10 a ton. Corn is worth 63c; wheat 82c. and other grain in proportion.

Land is worth from $35 to $100 an acre. There is not very much selling for $100, only the very best improved farms.

Joe Azbill came here from Winchester, Ky., one year ago and bought 320 acres of land and paid $18000 for it and bought property in Cherokee for $4,500, and recently sold his farms for $27,000 and his town property for $5,100.

Cherokee is a very nice town of about 2000 inhabitants. It has two railroads, five elevators, an ice plant, one large flour mill of 500 Bbl cap.; a large alfalfa mill where they make meal out of alfalfa. They have 50 per cent. alfalfa and 40 per cent. corn, and makes fine feed and a market for the alfalfa. I will say I think there is more money in alfalfa than any other crop that is raised here, as the seed is worth $8 a bushel, and you can usually get one seed crop each year and get from three to six bushel to the acre and three crops of hay besides and the threshed alfalfa is worth about $6.00 a ton.

The people here are very sociable, and is a very nice, moral place to live. There is no booze to be had close. The worse that can be said of the country, is the water. We have some good water and some is no good. Cistern water as a rule, is the best drinking water. There is so much salt in the earth it tastes in the water. We live five miles from the salt plains. They are seven miles wide and 12 miles long and are solidly covered with white salt and sometimes the salt is nearly an inch deep on the ground. We live only 14 miles from the Kansas line in Alfalfa county. Woods county is divided into three counties, Alfalfa, Major and Woods. We have plenty of Jack Rabbits and a few Coyotes here and more Quail than I ever saw any where and there are plenty of fish and good ones. I have had all the fish I wanted several times.

Wages are reasonably fair here, a young man can get from $20 to $30 a month and board on a farm. Land rents for one-third of the grain and one-half of the alfalfa. We haven't any negroes here and no Indians living close, but I have seen several Indians, a band camped near Cherokee last week and attended the fair. I talked with them some and bought a pair of moccasins made of Buck skin. They can converse some in English, but not very much.

Well, I guess I will close. If this is lucky enough to escape the waste basket I may come again soon. Loe Bryant.

Gradyville.

J. A. Diddle spent one day the first of the week at Sulphur Well.

J. W. Coy, of Columbia, was here the first of the week.

L. M. Wilmore was in the community of East Fork last week.

The revival services in the grove near Weed closed last week. We have not heard the results of the meeting.

Quite a number of crops of dark tobacco in this community that are not sold up to this writing.

Ozark and Gradyville base ball teams crossed bats last Saturday which resulted in a glorious victory for the former.

Mrs. Kate Hughes, of Columbia, spent a few days with her daughter, Mrs. J. A. Diddle, of near this place, last week.

Uriah Bradshaw has completed several new houses in this section in the last sixty days.

Mrs. Nancy L. Grady, who is visiting her son, D. A. Grady, at McGregor, Texas, writes her sons, W. L. and Dr. John Grady that she is highly pleased with the Lone Star State.

Mr. Herschel Shirrell, who left us a few weeks ago with the intention of making Russell Springs his future home has returned to this place on account of his health. Mr. Shirrell is afflicted with heart trouble.

Mr. Levi Dulin, of Edmont, who recently took unto himself a help mate, visited his father's family near this place last week.

Next Thursday the 10th, there will be an all day Missionary meeting at this place. Everybody invited to attend the meeting.

Miss Nina Marcum, of Columbia, was the guest of Miss Clara Wilmore last Wednesday.

Messrs. Wilson Bros., of Cave City, received a nice lot of cattle from J. F. Pendleton, of this place, last week at 34 cents per pound. The cattle brought Mr. Pendleton something near one thousand dollars.

W. L. Grady received from Charles Yates last week a very fine colt under one year old for which he paid seventy-five dollars. Mr. Grady is on the market for several more of the same stock and style.

Mr. Strong Hill and wife, after a week's visit with relatives at Jamestown and Russell Springs, returned home last Thursday. Mr. Hill informed us that he bought a lot at Russell Springs and expected in the near future to build a dwelling thereon.

Mr. Galloway, of Burkesville, has been in our community for the past week looking after a lot of timber that belongs to Geo. H. Nell & Co. We understand the gentleman is well pleased with the timber and the probabilities are that they will make a deal.

Mr. L. S. Smith has grown the finest watermelon that we have had in this section this season. He has supplied this market for several weeks.

Prof. E. V. Thompson was examined at Edmont on a short time ago and will receive a first-class certificate. He received one hundred per cent on all of his studies except one and to-day is teaching a very interesting school at Story Point, in Metcalfe county.

The rain at this place last Friday morning caused our people to be up early watching the creek. It rained for three hours very hard and swelled the creek and branch considerably, but no serious damage was done.

Mrs. Geo. W. Spilman, who has been in a critical condition for the past month or so is not improving very fast.

Pellham.

Luther Smith is confined to his room with something wrong with one of his feet.

Mr. Charlie Browning, wife and little daughter, Mary, of Bliss, were visiting at J. R. Cundiff's last week.

Mr. A. Hunn was looking after cattle in this neighborhood last week.

Mr. Burdick, of Marion county, bought a span of mules from J. N. Squires for two hundred and twenty-five dollars; same party bought a bunch of sheep from Dolphus Murray for $24.

Mr. Will Todd was in Springfield transacting business last week.

Miss Kate B. Squires will start this Tuesday to Louisville and Cincinnati to lay in her Fall millinery.

Robert Todd, son of Scott Todd, one of our industrious men, was out in the woods cutting tobacco sticks and cut his knee very badly last Tuesday, and before his father could get any one there to help him he almost bled to death. We are very sorry of his bad luck and hope he will soon be about again.

Dr. James Squires and brother, Rheu, are here on a visit from Missouri. Dr. is in very bad health. We hope that Kentucky air and water will restore him to good health again.

Mrs. Jennie and Mrs. Jim Smith and Miss Maggie Hutchinson were visiting on Caney Fork last week.

TO PEOPLE OF ADAIR COUNTY!

It takes money to run a campaign and it takes a great deal of it to successfully engineer one of national scope. The present attitude of the Democratic party excludes contribution from the powerful corporations and trusts and consequently must rely on the loyalty, patriotism and free-will offerings of the great common people to meet the demands of legitimate campaign expenses and the sooner this is met the more life, enthusiasm and effectiveness will be given the work necessary to win. It is the duty, as well as a privilege, for every person who believes in and desires democratic success to contribute to this fund. A request has been made that Democratic papers solicit for this purpose and forward same to the National Committee. We obey the suggestion and ask every true Democrat to help in this fight to restore to the great bulk of the people their rights, their privileges and the blessings of a free government. Any amount from one dollar up will be cheerfully received and promptly forwarded to the Committee. Fill out the following and enclose your contribution:

How to get Strong.

P. J. Daly, of 1247 W. Congress St., Chicago, tells of a way to become strong. He says: "My mother, who is old and was very feeble, is deriving so much benefit from Electric Bitters, that I feel it a duty to tell those who need a tonic and strengthening medicine about it. In my mother's case a marked gain in flesh has resulted, insomnia has been overcome, and she is steadily growing stronger." Electric Bitters quickly remedy stomach liver and kidney complaints. Sold under guarantee at Paul's drug store, 50c.

An Address.

The following paper was read by Matthew Taylor at the Teachers' Association of the 3rd. Magisterial District, August 29th, 1908:

I am not here to make a speech. I am here because I love to associate with those who are trying to advance the cause of education. The first school I ever attended was one of the first common schools established in this county, and my teacher is yet living.

I go to see him once a year if possible and greatly enjoy meeting with him because he has always been my friend and because he and I are the only persons now living who attended that school so far as we know.

When I went to the free schools any one who could read, write and cipher was qualified to teach school. I remember when I was going to school I was very anxious to become a teacher and after I had received all the information I could in the common schools and had gone some to higher schools I got the promise of a school down on Casey's Fork, of Marrowbone, and I went to our Commissioner, Mr. Nat Gaiter, a young lawyer in Columbia, to get a certificate. I went into his office and sat down and after awhile I gathered up courage enough to tell him I had come to get a certificate to teach school in the country. "Well," said he, "Matthew what do you know?" I told him I could read a little, write a little and cipher a little. He then pushed writing paper, pen and ink to the end of the table where I was and told me to write my name. I did so the best I could. He asked no further question, but took the paper looked at my name and then picked his pen and wrote something like this, "I have this day examined Matthew Taylor touching his qualifications to teach in the common schools of Adair county and find him qualified to read a little, write a little and cipher a little. Given under my hand, etc." Then I took it and stepped down and out with the pomposity of a Vanderbilt armed and equipped as the law directed.

I then went to my school and commenced teaching and followed teaching for fifteen or twenty years. I found a firm consistent course the best to apply in the school room among pupils. They all need our sympathy and respect and it must be bestowed, as much as possible, without partiality. The fact is, I meet up with some of my pupils occasionally whom I have forgotten as pupils and the very moment I am reminded of it they feel nearer and dearer to me, because I feel that I may in some way be responsible for their destiny.

I would advise all teachers in addition to obtaining sufficient qualifications, to cultivate a spirit of kindness, not only with your pupils, but with all with whom they come in contact for all have their influence in some way at some time, and consequently the slightest neglect on the part of any teacher to show a sufficiently kind disposition may deprive them of a school when least expected.

During the last few years the free schools have been extended to six instead of three months each year, as they were formerly.

The qualification of teachers has been advanced to such an extent that all parents can, if they will, give their children a better education at home in the common schools than those of my age were able to obtain under the most favorable circumstances, and yet we know from different causes, that a large majority of the rising generation will never receive more than a slight knowledge of the branches now required to be taught in our common schools.

Notwithstanding this is true, under the late law, all males over twenty-one years of age are taxed to build up one or two public high schools in each county of the State, and I suppose we will have to build two, one for white and one for colored students when we know, not one fourth of either the white or colored race will ever be able to avail themselves of the benefits of either. In my judgment if the late law is enforced and carried out it will result in taxing a large majority for the benefit of a very small minority and in building up by taxation a pauper educational aristocracy which will have for its aim the encouragement of a system of taxation for the employment of a class of professors who are otherwise a burden to society and thereby create a prejudice against them in the minds of those who pay taxes to keep them employed, but are not in condition to avail themselves of the benefits, if any to be derived.

Knowing as I do the advanced qualification of teachers of the present day over my own and those of a few years ago, I was sorry to see that the teachers of our county in County, Institute assembled, had endorsed a law calculated to bring about such conditions as above named and also to compel the colored race against its will to vote with the white race in electing school trustees, and forcing the white trustee to enroll the names of colored children and make report of same to the School Commissioner against his will. Any law that taxes the people to build up institutions from which they receive none of the benefits is equivalent to taxation without representation.

I believe if our Legislature had passed a law giving the people of each county the right to tax themselves to build up public high schools without making it compulsory and without compelling a nearer association with the white and colored races in the affairs of public education, that the friends of advanced education could have aroused in the minds of farmers and laboring people of all classes a substantial interest in the advancement of education in the rural districts throughout the State and that the cause would have continued to grow. But under existing circumstances it appears that the enforcement of existing law can only have a tendency, on one hand, to bring about a closer association with the white and colored races and ultimately lead to mixed schools, and on the other hand to create a prejudice in the minds of all classes against the law that enforces such conditions and the institution it claims to uphold, and thereby clog the wheels of progress and suppress all hope of immediate advancement.

Druggist Takes His Own Medicine

The man who sells remedies for most of the human ills, and hears day after day the opinions of people who have used these remedies, naturally comes to know the superior from the inferior, and when the time comes that he has to decide on which remedy he will take, he of course selects the one he has heard the most praise of. His own opinion, coupled with that of his customers', ought to go far in convincing the layman that the remedy the druggist selects is the best in the field.

J. M. Hawkins, a druggist of Mount City, Kan., has sold medicine for a great many years, and when finally he himself began to suffer from stomach trouble he had no hesitancy in deciding which remedy on his shelf he would take. It was Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Now, after having given it a good test, Mr. Hawkins writes as that justified his high opinion and he is cured.

It was the same with Druggist Kennedy, of Lexington, Ill. He was not very robust, often had constipation and such troubles, so, giving up what his customers who had paid it told him, he took Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and had been a well man ever since.

There is no better remedy on the shelf of any druggist for all matters depending on indigestion, constipation, biliousness, flatulency, heartburn, dizziness, jaundice and other liver troubles, whether the disease is in an infant, child, woman or man.

It is the best family laxative. It is gentle and effective, pleasant and sure. The proprietors guarantee it will bring about a healthy condition and results to be expected. Usually one or two bottles will do the trick. It is so cheap and so good, and as it is only 50 cents or $1 a bottle, the sure relief can be had for a few cents. Buy a bottle so you can see what it will do for you.

FREE TEST These wishing to try Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin should send for a free bottle. The bottle will go to you on condition that you will return it to the druggist who sent it. If you have any symptoms of indigestion, liver or bowel disease, send for a free bottle. The bottle will go to you on condition that you will return it to the druggist who sent it. If you have any symptoms of indigestion, liver or bowel disease, send for a free bottle. The bottle will go to you on condition that you will return it to the druggist who sent it.

For Better or for Worse.

The Twentieth Century woman is far more inclined to take a serious view of love and matrimony than either her mother or grandmother appears to have been. She may like admiration, but as a rule she has no desire to pose as a breaker of men's hearts. Viewed even from a moral standpoint the girl of the 'thirties,' the maiden of ready blushes and simple white muslin frocks, who was taught to regard every unmarried man who crossed her horizon as a probable lover and a possible husband, was much more "forward" in spite of her vaunted modesty than the bachelor girl, who looks the realities of life straight in the face and understands how the taking of a husband can prove a curse as well as a blessing. Such a one is most likely to promise to marry a man without the full intention to take him for better or worse.

here one day last week. He told your reporter that he was just back from Campbellsville where he had contracted to deliver a lot of staves at $60 per m.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Froedge, Breeding, were here one day last week.

Myrtie Cummins is on the sick list this week.

Married, on the 20th inst., Mr. Robert E. Strange and Miss Effie Gaston. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Houston Strange, of this place, and has been connected with the firm of Moss and Taylor, stove dealers, for the past few years. The bride is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Gaston, Rugby, Ky. They will reside with the parents of the former the remainder of this year and Mr. Strange will continue to receive staves. May they live a long, happy life is the wish of your reporter.

To Be Restored.

After several years' delay there is now good prospect of getting the Boone monument in the cemetery at Frankfort restored to its original condition. The sculptor who is to do the work is in Frankfort looking at pictures of Boone and studying the history of scenes and incidents in the life of the Kentucky pioneer.

It will be several months before the work is finished and the monument restored, but when the sculptor gets through it is expected that the Boone monument will be as it was many years ago.

The Legislature of 1906 appropriated $2,000 for the restoration of the monument, but this has never been used.

On each side of the monument was depicted in marble an act in the life of Boone. One side showed the pioneer killing an Indian and another showed him and a bear fighting. A third side depicted Boone's wife milking a cow, while the fourth side showed him sitting under his own vine and fig tree. All these have been ruined by the souvenir collector and the monument is now stripped of almost everything that would show to whom it was erected.

Clock Ticks Inside Fish.

Recently George Harris, late Assistant Warfmaster, caught a catfish that weighed only forty-five pounds, but upon dressing it found a clock in its maw, says the Carrollton News. Of course, the catfish's mouth was large enough to have swallowed the clock, but why it should have kept running, as it was ticking when the fish was caught, is beyond conception, as we learn that the timepiece was dropped overboard from the steamer Helen M. Gould by one of Purser Shirley Bradley's cabin boys three days previous. The only explanation we can give is that watering being one of the best conductors of electricity known that the fish supplied the electricity from its body and conducted by the current formed by the breathing of the water made and electric clock of the timepiece.

Game Warden Claude Daney witnessed the correct time the clock was keeping and Charles Currans, the second clerk, identified the clock. It is a remarkable occurrence.
